Harvest Slowed By Sunday Rain

South Half of County Received Heavy Rain, With .55 Inches Here

With about 65% of the wheat crop harvested, cutting was stopped in a greater part of the county by a rain Sunday.

The rain in Canyon measured .55 of an inch. In the west and north part of the county there was little more than a quarter inch in most places. Starting at Canyon and extending south over the entire south half of the county rain measured from one to three inches. No section of the southern area was missed. Extending into Swisher county, Tulla reported 4 1/2 inches of rain Sunday.

While varying in amount of moisture, practically every section of the Panhandle received rain.

Wheat is turning out better than anticipated before harvest started. It will be impossible to estimate the county's average due to the fact that some fields are making only 5 to 6 bushels, while others are running about 15 to 20. One farmer reported that on the whole summer fallowed wheat is not making as much as predicted a few weeks ago, while dry land wheat is making more than anticipated.

Harris M. Cook Spent Weekend at His Home Here

Dr. Harris M. Cook was able to leave the Veterans' Hospital in Amarillo for the weekend in order to be at home with Mrs. Cook and their son, Joe. Dr. Cook has been seriously ill for eight months.

He has been granted a year's leave of absence from West Texas State where he is Dean of Men, and professor in the Education Department.

Candidates Must File First Items Expense Account

Local candidates have until July 2 to file their expense account for the primary election. This filing may start today. The account must be filed with the County Clerk.

A candidate rally is scheduled in Canyon for Saturday night, July 20. The candidates will speak on the court house lawn. A loud speaker will be provided for this occasion. All voters are cordially invited to be present and hear the local candidates.

So far there has been very little interest shown in the coming primary. Due to the fact that the time is getting short, it is expected that more interest will be shown.

With the coming of candidates for Governor, and the short time that remains before the primary, voters are expected to begin showing an interest in the primary.

Additional Housing Is Sought for West Texas State by Fall

President J. A. Hill and Business Manager Virgil Henson flew to Fort Worth Monday to confer with federal authorities in securing additional housing for students which may become available by fall.

Sadler Talked To Local Voters

Candidate For Governor Was Here Yesterday In Campaign for High Office

JERRY SADLER

Jerry Sadler, candidate for Governor, visited Canyon Wednesday afternoon and spoke on the court house lawn. He was accompanied by his cousin, Harley Sadler, well known West Texas showman and a member of the legislature.

Sadler showed that he was a good campaigner, and carried into his campaign the same fighting spirit which made him Railroad Commissioner several years ago.

The candidate charged at least three of his opponents with letting the old folks down, and blocking the constitutional provision for adequate pension for the needy.

His speech here was in line with that made in other towns where he has reviewed his service to the people. He resigned his post on the Railroad Commission to serve his country during World War II. This experience has been invaluable to him, and will be of great benefit to the state, he proclaimed.

Sadler carries with him a group of entertainers, who pleased the gathering of voters while the candidate was shaking hands with those who gathered to hear him.

In past elections Sadler has always received a good vote in this section, and he anticipates having the same strong support in the July primary.

Hot Checker in Canyon Fleeces Many Citizens

Officers are after a hot check artist who seemed to know his way around.

He is a young man, who first enrolled in West Texas State—but did not attend classes.

Under the pretext of being a student, he started out the rounds, giving hot checks on various banks over the state. His claim was that he and his mother were moving to Canyon.

About the time the checks would come back, he is reported to have moved on to Amarillo, where he gave a number of additional checks.

He left a trail of hot checks, and then moved out.

Officers have been on his trail, and hope to have him under arrest in a few days.

Olin E. Hinkle was home over the weekend to assist Mrs. Hinkle and their sons in the final stages of their move to Austin. The family will spend the summer at the home of Mrs. Hinkle's mother in Abilene.

Notices Posted For Sale of Land in Palo Duro Park

The sale of excess land in the Palo Duro State Park will be held at the court house door on Tuesday, July 2.

The Commerce Trust Co. of Kansas City posted notices of the sale last week under the trustee agreement on the debt.

The land on which the improvements are located, and the road right-of-way are not included in the notice for sale.

The Amarillo Chamber of Commerce has been active in asking that Amarillo buy the land. So far no definite steps have been taken.

A representative of the trust company, who recently inspected the land, states that it is the purpose of the company to get its money out of the land.

So far the State Parks Board has shown no inclination to give up the operation of the park, or to sell its interest in the land which was deeded to it several years ago.

Representatives At Convention of the Red Cross

In Philadelphia, the National Convention of the American Red Cross was held June 18-21. Delegates from Canyon to this Convention were Mrs. George Melton from the Red Cross Chapter of Canyon, and Miss Suzanne Owens, representing the Junior Red Cross from Canyon Public Schools and West Texas Training School.

Many forums, addresses by prominent statesmen, Red Cross workers, and an address by President Truman were on the list of activities during the three-day period.

In the address given by Mr. Basil O'Connor, chairman of the Red Cross, he summarized the aims of the organization when he said: "The Red Cross must join the fight for one world of security and peace by helping free the peoples of all nations from slavery, hunger, and from despotism."

The final address of the Convention was given by Rabbi Joshua Loth Liebman, of Temple Israel in Boston. He declared that "we cannot enjoy our private paradise while others suffer in our world. The greatest work of the Red Cross will be to help in the building of a world in which we can live without fear."

Illinois Students Visited Campus West Texas State

Guests on W. T. campus Monday night and Tuesday morning were members of the Geography Field Course from Illinois State Normal University, Normal, Illinois. Having made previous arrangements with President J. A. Hill, the party of forty persons set up their tents on the south end of the football field. Professor Leslie A. Holmes was in charge of the group.

After enrolling in the usual way at I. S. N. U. on June 10, the students devoted a part of the first week to regular class work. Having left Normal on Thursday, June 13, the class will make a seven weeks tour of western United States.

This celebration is the first post-war affair of this type and the first in Canyon in several years.

G. W. Cox, manager of the airport, was in charge of the program. Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the college, made the welcoming address. Several numbers were sung by a college girls' quartet. Breakfast was served by W. T. girls to approximately 130 persons.

In attendance by towns were Amarillo, 40; Clarendon, 15; Plainview, 30; Canyon, 20; Dalhart, 2; Clovis, 12; Portales, 1; Phillips, 1; Dumas, 3; Hereford, 2; Clarendon, 6; Borger, 4; Elk City, 1; and Childress, 4.

Editorials

We listened with interest to a speaker last week who talked about peace. His theme was that until all people of the world demand and work for peace there will be no permanent peace. Lawmakers have their ears to the ground. They are sensitive to the will of the people. They are supposed to represent the will of the majority. This should be a lesson to the people of Randall county. America is no longer an isolated nation. We cannot keep out of world affairs, as much as we might wish. Isolation as a theory is dead, yet some of our leaders will attempt to resurrect it for their own selfish gains. What shall we here in Randall county do about it? We must study, read, consider world problems; become acquainted with world leaders; world thought; and world movements so that we can talk intelligently of world affairs. The world has become a very, very small territory under modern air travel, and world communication. Whatever happens in the far reaches of the world will sooner or later affect us to some slight degree here in Randall county. The old, old theory of "me, my wife, and my son, John," is dead. We have something bigger and more expansive in life to think about.

A little lesson in justice is needed as we consider peace problems as applied to aggressor nations, which stir up war. We can bring the problem right back home as a matter of comparison. All of us know just how soft hearted Americans are toward criminals, and how we shed crocodile tears when criminals are caught and brought into court where they are supposed to receive justice. The sympathy of the community usually goes out to such criminals. Our laws are made to favor the criminals, rather than protect society. On the same basis, we must consider the case of the aggressor nations. Germany started a world war in 1914. She was whipped in 1918. The victors got together and wrote a peace treaty. After a few years of dilatory efforts to enforce the peace, it was scrapped, and we forgave Germany. Was that justice? Did it make sense? No. It resulted in World War II. Are we going to be softhearted again, and forgive Germany? Will it be justice to allow aggressors to again plan to destroy the world in another war? The people of Randall county have a voice in that problem. We sent more than a thousand young men and young women to defend the nation. We were very active in winning the war. Are we going to be as active in winning the peace? Or are we going to bungle the problem once more?

Herbert Hoover is demanding more grain to feed the starving peoples of the world. Mr. and Mrs. Average citizen would like to do something about it. But our government has allowed 100,000,000 bushels of grain to be used in the manufacture of liquor since V-J day. If the farmers of America had burned up that amount of grain, or were allowing the rats to destroy it, the nation would be up in arms. Yet we sit idly by and see that amount of grain go into liquor, which burns up human energy and makes beggars of men. Women and children are deprived of bread here at home when husbands and fathers drink up their weekly wage, and millions abroad are threatened by starvation. Yet Washington cries out for help, and demands that Americans deprive themselves in order to send grain abroad. It would be a fine thing for the health of Americans to eat less; but it would be a world shaking event should Washington demand that Americans quit burning up their bodies, souls and minds by gutting liquor in order that the suffering peoples might eat. Will the administration do this? Never!

Candidates for Governor are demanding that the legislature place a huge tax on gas which is transported out of the state. They are appealing to the voters that such a tax would bring in from $9 to $50 million dollars annually. This is probably true, but the joker is that the legislature and prominent attorneys of the state have been working on this very problem for 15 years. So far no one has been able to devise a constitutional method of assessing such a tax and making it legal. True enough it would be a fine thing if Texas could levy a tax against the natural gas which is not used in Texas. Likewise, it would be a fine thing for Colorado to levy a tax on coal which is not used in Colorado; and if Michigan should levy a tax on cars which are not used in that state; and all of the other states could levy a tax on products which are shipped out, for "foreigners" living in Texas. But you see just where all of this state taxing would lead us. No wonder the federal constitution prohibits such practice. It would lead to civil war among the states. Members of the legislature found this out years ago. But candidates for Governor in 1946 were not running for public office when this question was seriously considered and given extensive study.

Russia comes forth with a plan to control atomic energy. It seems that Russia is a world stumbling block to peace in her demands. The whole Russian situation is beyond the average American. It should be clear to Stalin and his henchmen that Russia would have been whipped by Germany had we not come to her aid. Yet Russia has never allowed American military men to see or examine any of the war materials which she developed during the war. Veiled suggestions come from Russia that she is developing an atomic bomb of her own. Should this be the case, we wonder why Russia is so insistent that we give her the secret, in spite of her position that we have no rights to investigate behind the Russian lines. This is a world problem, in which we are vitally interested. The fate of the world may depend upon the attitude of Russia at this critical time of the world's history.

Texas Negroes have won a legal battle in the fight to secure admission into white schools. One negro, who seeks law training, sought admission in the University of Texas. The courts have upheld his plea. It will now be up to the state to establish a law school in the negro college at Prairie View on a par with that at the university. This is going to be hard on East Texas school districts which have used the negro per capita money to operate white schools. This is the same crowd which has blocked redistricting of the legislature. We had just as well admit that the negro has been shamefully treated so far as education is concerned. The money which was due for his education has been diverted to the white children. Many people argue that education spoils the negro. Perhaps that is because he has received the wrong kind, from the wrong people.

The Democratic party simply takes the South for granted. There is no question about the loyalty of the South to the party, regardless of the fights which may go on within the party. The condemnation by President Truman of strikers was loudly cheered throughout the South. But when he vetoed the Case bill a groan resounded across the South. "What manner of man is this who condemns strikes out of one side of his mouth, while approving the action of labor racketeers out of the other side of his mouth?" is the prevailing question throughout this section. While the President was right in stating that you cannot force men to work against their will, certainly he is wrong in not giving Congress a chance to take steps toward the regulation of labor groups who are causing all of the present disturbances.

Grover Sellers, candidate for Governor, spoke here the other day, advocating that the Highway Patrol be enlarged in order to keep down highway accidents. His plan is approved by all citizens, but we wonder just how successful it will be. For instance, there were two tragic accidents south of Canyon within one week. It is doubtful if the patrol had been four times its present size that any officer could have been on this highway at the time of the accidents. Fast driving should be stopped, and careless drivers should be firmly handled by the law. But having cops at all points where there is danger is quite another thing. That would take a very large army of men.

About $9,000 saps paid a couple of million bucks to see Joe Louis and Billy Conn play tag in the New York ring the other night. Of course we should dislike having either of these boys land a haymaker on our jaw. But from all reports the fight was a very tame affair, and a disgrace to the profession—if brutality may be termed a profession. It seems that Mike Jacobs is the complete czar of the fighting game. What he says goes, and the going is largely controlled by the amount of money which goes into his pocket.

Henry Wallace says that he will have nothing to do with the proposed third party movement. However, he did not say that he would not accept the Democratic nomination should President Truman decide not to run, or if CIO succeeds in ditching Truman in favor of Wallace. Henry recalls the history of third party movements. His dad was an ardent Bull Moose with Teddy Roosevelt. CIO promises to fight to the finish against Truman in 1948. So far its political battles this year have not been successful.

The University of Texas has been pitched right in the middle of the race for Governor. This is a crying shame that the biggest and wealthiest university in the South should be a political football because of the antics of politicians. However, if Homer P. Rainey is elected Governor, we shall see a continuation of this political foolishness so long as he holds office. The only way to settle the problem is to eliminate the man who started the row—Homer P. Rainey.

When you hear candidates for governor declare: "When I am Governor, so and so and so will happen," just consider one sure thing: The legislature of Texas passes the laws. The governor may recommend, and his recommendations may be thrown out the window. The governor has little to say about the laws which are passed. His platform is only his personal opinion, just as the sentiments expressed on this page are the sentiments of the country newspaper publisher.

General Eisenhower expresses the opinion that it will be necessary to police Germany and Japan for at least three years. When the war ended it was generally assumed that we would have to stay on the job for 10 years or more. But after actual occupation ceases we shall have to keep our eyes open if we are to forestall another war.

We see by Newsweek that Senator Connally has no opposition. Newsweek is published in New York. Its editors do not know that four fellows have their names on the official ballot as candidates against Connally, but they are probably correct in saying he has no opposition.

Regardless of the other candidates, we are of the opinion that Boyce House will be elected lieutenant governor. He is certainly preparing himself for the job by making an extensive study of the needs of the state, and the diversified interests within the state.

The green recruit was trying to pick up some information from an old-timer in his outfit. "What do they do to you for being AWOL?" the rookie asked. "Well," said the old timer, "that depends. If it's the first offense, they'll probably let you off with a stiff stretch in the guardhouse. The second time it's pretty sure to be the firing squad. And," he added warningly, "the third time—well, look out."

For an hour the commanding officer had been lecturing the squad of new recruits about the glories of being a soldier.

Having emphasized their duties as soldiers of King and country, the officers called on one of the recruits—McGinty—and questioned him.

"Now, then, Private McGinty," he said, "I just want to see whether you have been listening. Tell me, why should a man lay down his life for his King and country?"

McGinty scratched his head for a moment. Then his face lit up. "Faith, captain," he cried, "you're right—why should he?"

"Business is getting awfully dull," complained the shoe merchant. "What should we do about it?"

"I'll tell you what," replied the more experienced partner. "Let's put a bunch of those $4 shoes on display and mark them down from $6 to $4.99."

Atomic Force Seen As Boon to Planes

Loads Could Be Increased
With New Engine.

WASHINGTON.—Scientists of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics said that an atomic engine for aircraft is a distant possibility.

They said it is not fantastic to visualize a fuel supply the size of a brick with sufficient power to fly around the world many times.

"Without the need for large gasoline storage," the NACA said in a statement, "the payloads of commercial aircraft would be greatly increased, and the knife-like wing profiles essential to supersonic craft could be constructed with needed strength of solid light metal."

"Release of atomic energy promises to widen and broaden the application of air transport to the world's extension of communication and business, and not be limited merely to destructiveness."

The NACA is a body credited with much of the development and improvement of America's warplanes and aircraft engines. It said that "many years of research and development lie ahead before such an engine successfully emerges," because the degree of control achieved over atomic energy's use as a bomb "nowhere near approaches the measure of control needed to convert atomic energy to engine horsepower."

Present type engines are "characterized by a relatively high fuel consumption and a staggering waste of energy," the committee said, with one nine-millionth of the total fuel energy utilized if the calculation is in terms of atomic energy.

For example, it pointed out that 4,320 BTU's (a measurement of heat) per pound are obtained from the molecular reaction of aviation fuels, while 35 billion BTU per pound can be obtained from atomic reaction.

Dentist Describes New Type Artificial Hand

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A navy dentist reported recently he has developed an artificial hand which combines utility, durability, lifelike appearance and comfort in wearing.

Lt. Cmdr. Lamar W. Harris of the naval dental corps said that the hand, made of a newly perfected rubberlike plastic material, provides a strong thumb and forefinger grip with a concealed operating mechanism.

Harris said the hand combines the best features of two other appliances now issued by the armed forces.

These are a metal claw which can be opened and closed by shoulder motion but which must be worn without any covering, and a latex hand which can be drawn over an amputated stump like a glove, but which has no motion and is worn only for appearance's sake.

The new hand, mechanism and all, weighs about one pound. At rest, it is closed. A motion of the opposite shoulder — linked by a cord with the mechanism — operates a lever which causes the forefinger to rise. When the patient relaxes his shoulder, a spring causes the finger to close in a clawlike motion against the thumb.

Skilled Labor Shortage Is Cited by Australian

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA.—Australia's desperate skilled worker shortage was cited by Premier Joseph Chifley in the house of representatives recently as the reason for the refusal to grant passports to a number of doctors, nurses and stenographers to join the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration abroad.

Passports have been approved for only a few nurses in the fighting forces.

Herbert V. Evatt, minister of external affairs, said that the passport ban was not a repudiation of Australia's obligations and that his country would contribute its full share within the limits of home requirements.

African Plant May Solve Camphor Problem of U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The possibility the United States may develop its own supply of natural camphor — a product obtained from Japan before the war — was envisioned recently by department of agriculture drug plant specialists. They said "camphor basil" introduced from Africa and grown experimentally in this country the last eight years offers "a source of natural camphor that can compete with the camphor tree of Formosa, heretofore the only commercial source of natural camphor."

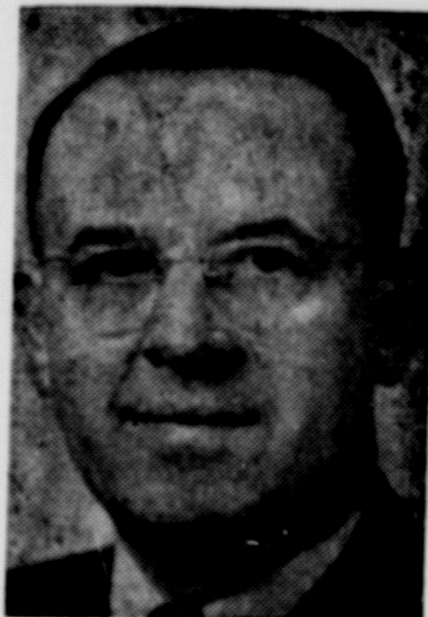

By Ending War Tricky Bomb Pays for Itself

WASHINGTON, D. C. — By ending the war, the atomic bomb's cost has been more than justified. Atomic bombs were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

President Truman announced the project had cost $2,000,000,000. Treasury experts said this represents the cost of less than nine days of war.

World War I Vet Receives Degree

ERNEST R. ARCHAMBEAU

Ernest R. Archambeau, general agent for Reliance Insurance company with headquarters in Amarillo, has made earning a bachelor's degree his biggest avocational activity for several years. He completed the requirements, and his degree was granted at the spring graduation 1946.

Mr. Archambeau first attended West Texas State College in the early teens. His work was interrupted by World War I, at the close of which he studied for a time at the Université de Montpellier, France. After that time he went into business. He has been a student at Amarillo Center every semester since its opening.

Insurance and college study and the responsibility of a family might be enough for most men, but Mr. Archambeau has been an active member in the Methodist Church, the American Legion, the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and various organizations. He has given much time to Community Chest work.

The number of men and women who believe that systematic study is essential is increasing according to the records of West Texas State College. It is no longer considered strange to see people of all ages in classes on the main campus and the extended campus which is Amarillo Center. Several other people of equal maturity and experience with Ernest Archambeau have been granted degrees by the college during the years immediately past.

New Comforts Ease Rural Life

Increased Use of Electric Power Alters Standard Of Life in Country.

Special—WNU Features.
CHICAGO. — "Going to bed with the chickens" is not the exclusive prerogative of country dwellers, according to a recent survey on the sleeping habits of the American public. City dwellers from New York to San Francisco get to bed about the same time as the small towners while the average urban retirement hour is not more than 30 minutes later than the folks on the farm. Farm people, as a rule, get up 30 minutes to an hour earlier because of such pre-breakfast chores as milking and feeding the stock. Rural electrification has done much to lengthen the after dark hours of farm families and the use of modern agricultural machinery has lessened the strain of farming so that the physical need for restorative sleep is lessened.

City slicker and country man each averages the normal eight hours these days although science indicates that the pastoral sleep is sounder as the combination of outdoor exercise and a more leisurely way of life combines to give it a greater therapeutic value. However, makers of sleep products claim that rural and small town populations seek the same bedtime comfort as the residents of metropolitan areas.

Seek Latest Comforts.
Pointing out that rural America has a higher standard of living than any other similar group in the world, they cite postwar demands from merchants in small communities for such modern innovations as bedboard reading lamps, chime tone alarm clocks and electronic blankets. Requests for this type of merchandise from all sections of the country is evidence of the increasing use of electric power in agricultural areas since all of these products operate on electricity. A case in point is the electronic tubes that control the flow of warmth into an all-woolen blanket. The sleeper may set the control for the desired degree of warmth for sleeping, and regardless of changes in room temperature or body heat radiation the electronic tubes maintain the set level of heat accurately throughout the night.

Women Go for It.
One of the first electronic home products to make its appearance on the postwar scene, the manufacturers report that apparently it is as popular "down on the farm" as it is in city homes.

Double beds continue to retain their traditional popularity regardless of geography, according to the sleep survey, as 87 per cent of the married couples of the country use them. Wives who complain about their husbands reading in bed are in the minority for research shows more women read in bed than men and only 16 per cent of the people interviewed use any of the "shower hour" programs on the radio for a sleep wooer.

Those people who can't get to sleep in unfamiliar surroundings can duplicate home sounds at least. Sleep shops now sell records with typical country night noises as well as the muted roar of the big city. Everything from a bird song to the honk of taxis. Sleep records are increasing in popularity. Jack Benny, for instance, is said to use one which lulls him with the fading cluck-cluck of horses' hooves.

Scientists state that the speed-up pace of wartime America caused lots of restless sleeping and jangled nerves but the postwar era and its developments will bring greater and better comfort and sleep will, as always, continue to be man's greatest restorative.

Army Will Form Reserve Units, Says Department

WASHINGTON. — The war department announced that activation of organized reserve corps units would begin this summer as a third step in the creation of the postwar army.

The entire program, if completed, will provide the nation with a reservoir of military strength at least six times greater than existed in 1920 when the regular army, national guard and reserves together mustered a total of only 36,340 men.

Currently more than 22,000 officers of World War II have accepted commissions in the reserve, and about 300,000 enlisted men have signed up. The exact number and type of units to be activated cannot be set until the postwar army program has been finally approved by congress.

Servicemen's Wives Find $20 Bills in Mail Boxes

BUFFALO, N. Y. — Two servicemen's wives opened their mailboxes recently and discovered $20 bills. Word spread fast among the nearly 100 residents of the Lakeview housing development, but no donations were discovered.

Police assured Mrs. James Calamita and Mrs. Walter P. Schroeder that the bills were bona fide, but no one could explain their presence in the envelopes.

There is a slight difference in the length of every person's legs.

Shortage of Food Worries British

See No Relief Ahead Until Harvest Time.

LONDON. — The British government, declaring the world is faced with a wheat shortage of eight million tons, published a white paper on the subject of food shortage which predicted that near-famine conditions would continue until harvest time, the United Press reports.

"Only a combination of favorable circumstances can bring about any material improvement, while unfavorable crops would spell disaster," the white paper said.

Meanwhile, it said, most of the world will have to do with dark bread, skimpy helpings of meat, fewer eggs, less ham and bacon and mere dribbles of beer and whisky.

Summarizing the outlook for key foodstuffs the white paper said: WHEAT—No early solution on the wheat shortage.

RICE—Acute shortage will not meet the demands of eastern countries, where rice is a staple food; future prospects not encouraging.

MEAT—Supplies will lag behind requirements for some time; future supplies depend on size of this year's grain harvest.

OILS AND FATS—No substantial improvement until far eastern exports are available on a prewar scale; this year's supply will be one-seventh of the prewar supply.

SUGAR—The bottom of the barrel will be scraped this year; afterwards the outlook is better.

The white paper listed five reasons for the food shortage, worse now than at any time during the war:

1. Fuel, fertilizers and livestock feed has been kept from needed areas because transport is disrupted the world over.
2. Lack of faith in currency has restrained producers in many countries from selling for cash.
3. Farm-to-market distribution has been disrupted; farmers usually have enough to eat, the townspeople suffer.
4. Producers were hesitant to sow prewar wheat acreages because midwar surpluses obscured the outlook.
5. Exceptional series of droughts in main production areas made a serious situation critical.

Teeth of Cats Can Be

Transplanted, Report

CLEVELAND, OHIO. — Two research workers have shown that growing teeth can be transplanted successfully from one kitten's jaw to another.

Possibly, said Dr. Harry H. Shapiro of Columbia university, further experiments may indicate similar transfers could be made in human beings. He and Dr. Bernice L. Maclean of Hunter college, New York, performed the tests with kittens. Dr. Shapiro reported the results recently to the annual meeting of the American Association of Physical Anthropologists.

Starving Eat Clay in China; UNRRA Flies Food

SHANGHAI. — Emergency distribution of food by air to China's starving people is being organized by UNRRA in an effort to combat a famine so severe that several millions are reported eating grass, roots, the bark of trees and even clay.

Major General Chennault, once head of the famed Flying Tigers and former commanding general of the 14th air force, disclosed he is forming an air transport unit to fly UNRRA relief to stricken areas. Air transport is necessary because of the difficulties faced by land and sea travel.

Chennault is seeking former members of his old American volunteer group to participate in the flights.

13 Enrolled In Nursery School

Thirteen children are attending nursery school which opened June 10 for six weeks under the direction of Miss Margaret Owen. Miss Owen has the B. A. degree from Kansas State Agriculture College at Manhattan and the M. A. degree from Ohio University at Athens. For the last two years, Miss Owen has directed nursery school at North Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

The children enrolled and their parents are as follows:
Maria Nan Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Barker.

Conrad Jackson Freed, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Freed.

Marita Jo Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Gill.

Dorothy Higdon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Higdon.

Sherman Higdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Higdon.

Steve Hill, son of Mrs. Fairy Hill.

Ocoee and Margaret Johnson, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson.

Robert Joyner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Joyner.

Barbara K. Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Meyers.

David Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Walker.

Marylene Cavin, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Cavin of Tweedy who is attending college.

Nursery school is held five days a week from 9 a. m. until after lunch. Upon arrival, each child is inspected by College Nurse, Miss Helen Hickman, and then if the weather is satisfactory, the children play outdoors on slides, swings, and other playthings for an hour.

At 10 o'clock they return to the room for their mid-morning juice and for an hour of creative work such as coloring. With the exception of a few required things, the activity is of the child's own choosing. All toys, blocks, etc., are within his reach on open shelves about the room.

The quiet period which follows consists of either listening to music or stories. At 11:15, faces and hands are washed for lunch. Towel racks, lavatories, and other articles are adapted to the child's size and arranged for his convenience.

Miss Owen, who plans the lunch, does the marketing and supervises the preparation. The food is prepared by Barbara McDougal and Betty Brown, high school students, in the home economics food laboratory. The children eat their lunch from small tables.

"Social experience is the main purpose of the nursery school," stated Miss Owen. "Learning how to get along with other children and getting acquainted with them is of great value to a child."

The nursery program is carried on in close collaboration with the parents. Miss Owen will hold two conferences with each mother during the six weeks. Parents may visit the school at any time. Observation is made from behind a screen where visitors are not seen by the children.

Visiting Girl Scouts Spent Sunday Night Here Because Rain

Because of local rains making the roads impassable, about forty Girl Scouts from Childress and Memphis spent Sunday night in the basement of the Presbyterian Church. The Scouts were on their way to the Girl Scout Camp at Ceta Glen. Since they were on their way to camp, the girls all had bed rolls; so they laid these on the floor. The group was able to continue on their way Monday afternoon.

Miss Norma Ewing of Panhandle, field advisor for the North Panhandle, and business manager of the camp, and Miss Marie Stedje, Girl Scout director of Pampa, accompanied the girls.

Trench Mouth Is Caused By Unclean Neglected Mouths

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has released some interesting information concerning Vincent's angina which was commonly called "trench mouth" during World War I.

Dr. Cox states that Vincent's angina is a specific infection producing inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes, more commonly those of the mouth, and the disease is spread by indirect as well as direct contact.

"Because of the readiness with which the disease is transmitted, it has been occasionally found in epidemic form among school children and other groups," Dr. Cox states. "Vincent's angina assumed epidemic proportions in the front line trenches in 1914-1918 and it was during this period that the disease became generally known as trench mouth."

Although trench mouth is now world wide in distribution, reasonable application of preventative measures which are merely those in line with approved personal health practices will be found a sufficient defense against this infection.

According to the State Health Officer the most common causes of Vincent's angina are neglected mouths, broken teeth fillings, and other types of oral irritation. Daily hygiene, plus the periodic visit to the dentist can be relied upon as reasonable buffers against infection. However, persons who are very careful regarding oral hygiene can acquire this disease by using infected drinking cups and eating utensils and other personal articles; also by kissing, though healthy gums and mucous membranes have a much superior resistance to the infection than does an unclean mouth.

"Did you hear about Mrs. Jones? She had triplets and two weeks later she had twins."

"That's impossible. How did it happen?"

"Well, she lost one of the triplets."

Your new gas range —What it does for you

The oven of your new gas range is a trusty and obedient servant. It will turn out oven meals on the days when you want to get the work over in advance and be free for that hour or two before dinner. And the oven temperature control makes baking and roasting carefree work.

The broiler fills the need when quick, delicious combinations must be produced in a hasty half hour, or when you crave the succulent tenderness of a barbecue.

The top of the range does more than half the cooking for most families. For thrifty use economical combinations may be prepared in a covered skillet over a single burner. The low heat position, called simmer, cooks vegetables nutritiously in a small amount of water, and from the wide variety of heats up to high you can select the right temperature for each food.

Pat M. Neff, Jr. Was Here Meeting Voters Thursday

Pat M. Neff, Jr., of Houston, candidate for Attorney General, was in Canyon Thursday in the interest of his campaign.

While here Neff shook hands with as many friends and new acquaintances as possible and expressed regret that he could not stay longer and meet more people.

"I've always heard that Texas is a big state," the candidate remarked, "and after starting my statewide campaign for Attorney General, I can truthfully say that I believe it."

Neff said he will carry his campaign into every section of the state before the primary on July 27.

Neff has been a practicing attorney since 1928 and from 1933 to 1942 was an Assistant Attorney General under three administrations. He resigned to enter the Army in 1942. A native of Waco, he is 42 years old. This is his first bid for an elective office.

"I am running on my record as an Assistant Attorney General for more than eight years and on the recommendations of my friends for honesty, fairness and the courage to do what is right as your Attorney General," Neff stated. "I am already thoroughly familiar with the routine and administration of the department, as well as its responsibilities. My hope is that the people of Texas will apply the yardsticks of experience, merit and qualifications in this race, for I feel such a comparison will be to my advantage."

"I've got absolutely no sympathy for a man who beats his wife," said Reubens.

"A guy who can do that doesn't need any," replied Henpecko.

"What does it mean here by 'seasonal' troops, Dad?"

"Mustered by the officers and peppered by the enemy, my son."

Chapel Pew Honoring "House Mother" Given

When the Campus Chapel is built it will contain a pew given in honor of Mrs. I. C. Jenkins of Canyon in whose home hundreds of girls have lived and found friendship, financial aid and a loved house mother during all the years since the college opened in 1910.

The pew has been made possible through the leadership of Mrs. Frances Shaw, who now lives and teaches at Lazbuddie.

Among those who have contributed to the enterprise are Greta Paul, Muleshoe; Grace Paul, Friona; Imogene Copeland, Levelland; Nellie Mae McLeary, Winters; Josie and Delilah Baird of Rotan; and Frances Shaw of Lazbuddie.

Herring Leaves H. E. Department

Miss Wilma Herring, who has been on the staff of the home economics department during the past year, left Monday for her home in Robstown, Texas.

Miss Herring will become associated with her father in a grain and cotton enterprise at Robstown. She states that she is not at all sure that she will like business as well as teaching and that it is quite possible she will return to the teaching profession.

Randolph Contributes To Chapel Fund

Dr. John Randolph, Professor of Mathematics at Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, is one of the latest contributors to the West Texas College Chapel Fund.

Dr. Randolph received his degree from W. T. in 1926, later taught in Canyon Public School where he was the originator and first sponsor of "The Eagle's Tale." Later he received his Ph. D. from Cornell University after having done graduate work at the University of Michigan, Syracuse University and Cornell.

He writes "I remember my days there in Canyon and would dearly love to get back to one of the homecomings, but I don't see how it can be done."

This summer Dr. Randolph is teaching mathematics at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

"I've been trying to see you all week," said the patient over the phone. "When may I have an appointment?"

"You must make a date with my secretary," replied the dentist.

"I did; we had a swell evening, but I've still got to see you."

Levelland Is All Set For Big Show on July 3-4-5

Levelland has taken on a colorful air this week in preparation for the July 3, 4 and 5 annual rodeo, with early reports pointing to record attendance for an outstanding show.

In addition to the regular events, a full three-day entertainment program has been planned by local committees, President W. J. Robertson of the Levelland Rodeo association said today. Afternoon shows will be presented all three days at 2 o'clock and night shows will begin at 8 o'clock July 3 and 4.

Added prize money totals over $1,650 in seven events. Saddle bronc riding, calf roping, team roping, bulldogging, steer riding and sponsor contests will find top cowboys and cowgirls competing in the Levelland show.

The entertainment program will include a pair of Fort Worth feminine trick riders and ropers. Mrs. Velda Tindall and Miss Effie Corbin, who have performed for major shows in Cheyenne, Wyo., and Madison Square Garden, New York City, and others, will present specialty acts at all five performances.

Wiley McCray of Canadian, familiarly known as the "Canadian Kid," will be in the clown role.

Jack Hinson of Fort Sumner, N. M., will serve as arena director.
